Spontaneous recovery is a phenomenon of learning and memory that was first named and described by Ivan Pavlov in his studies of classical (Pavlovian) conditioning. In that context, it refers to the re-emergence of a previously extinguished conditioned response after a delay. Such a recovery of "lost" behaviors can be observed within a variety of domains, and the recovery of lost human memories ...

Dear Raina, Thanks for your encouraging storie. I also experience hearing voices and I have been hearing them for 3 and a half years. At first it was like being in hell. And all I could seek was to look for greater Love that was more than I could ever known. I sought to understand, at first. Then, I kept praying and seeking the love like that of Jesus Christ, and for the last few years up to know I ...
